

Software Developer to Aurora Innovation

Do you want to join a team with a mission to become the number one choice in digital healthcare services? We are looking for two experienced Software Developers who want to take part in a great opportunity to become a meaningful contributor to our transformation journey.

About the position

As a senior Software Developer, you will belong to one of our three agile and cross functional development teams. A team consists of 4-6 persons, both developers, a tester and a product owner. The teams have end-2-end responsibilities for different functionality areas in our product like SMS, Web booking and Integrations, Video, Chat, and E-identification, as well as Telephony and Traffic Billing. You will work with software development mainly in Java and Angular.

Who are you?

As a person, we believe that you have good leadership abilities and a strategic mindset. You also have great ability to communicate with other people and strive to share your knowledge with your colleagues. You have a proactive and ambitious attitude and are passionate about developing new and better solutions.

To succeed in these roles, we believe that you have several years of experience working as a Software Developer in full-stack and agile team developing SaaS services.

We believe that you have:

- Experience in working with Java or Angular.
- Hands-on experience with Cloud technologies, Containerization, Kubernetes.
- Strong knowledge of agile principles and processes.
- Fluent in English, oral and written.

We also expect you to have some of these requirements:

- Knowledge in Python, Linux, Asterisk, SIP, MongoDB, PostgreSQL, Hazelcast, NAST etc.
- Experience in working with API management, Security.
- Team leader/Scrum master experiences is a strong plus.
- Experience in working systematically with system architecture.
- Speaks and reads Swedish, or other languages.

At Aurora Innovation, we believe that we are on the face of the earth to solve the communication needs between patients and healthcare, for the benefit of society. We hope to share the same passion with you!

Interviews will be held continuously, so apply today! If you have any questions, please contact Jesper Stockenstrand at jesper.stockenstrand@aurorainnovation.com

About Aurora Innovation

Aurora Innovation helps healthcare to increase its availability to patients. Our company improves the work environment for healthcare professionals, who manage an unscheduled flow of incoming contact requests via telephony and other digital entrances. Our product Aurora teleQ has redefined the way patients reach healthcare. With offices in Sweden, Finland, Holland, and Spain, we are one of the leading companies in our field with the ambition of becoming the number one choice within digital healthcare communication services in all of Europe.

Many of our employees are notably proud of the value we deliver healthcare and the close contact with our customers and users which we strive to maintain. We encourage each other to behave respectfully, constructively, professionally, and kindly, and the corporate values that guide us are solidarity, courage, and simplicity.
